Commercial Real Estate Lending Decision Process Underwriting Bundle

The Commercial Real Estate Lending Decision Process (Underwriting Bundle) is a series of 3 interactive, web-based courses that examine the components and best practices of CRE underwriting.

- Underwriting - Basics
- Underwriting - Different Types of Commercial Properties
- Underwriting - Example Calculations

Member: $299. Non-Member: $539. Length: 4 hours, 15 minutes.

Appraisals

In this course, learners discover why appraisals are a critical component of the CRE underwriting process. This course uses the appraisal to validate the numbers provided by the customer, and to evaluate the ability of a property to generate the income necessary to repay the loan.

Member: $199. Non-Member: $349. Length: 2 hours, 30 minutes.

Construction Lending

In this course, learners will explore the types of construction, the additional risks that accompany a construction project, and the process (including documentation differences) of a construction loan.

Member: $249. Non-Member: $449. Length: 3 hours.

CRE Lending Overview

In this course, learners examine the similarities and differences between C&I and CRE lending and the various types of loan requests. This course positions learners to match loan needs and loan types and to understand the link between loans and repayment sources.

Member: $75. Non-Member: $135. Length: 30 minutes.

Drivers of Performance

In this course, learners will examine the core components of commercial real estate to inform decision making around loan approval and structure. Learners will use a checklist to identify the drivers of CRE performance and track their analysis.

Member: $75. Non-Member: $135. Length: 30 minutes.

Due Diligence and Documentation

In this course, learners will explore key instruments necessary to document a loan transaction and key elements of due diligence to be submitted and reviewed prior to closing.

Member: $125. Non-Member: $225. Length: 1 hour.

Environmental Assets

When evaluating a loan request, one of the risks banks consider has to do with contamination of the environment. In this course, learners will examine the role of the environmental assessment process in the CRE lending decision process.

Member: $125. Non-Member: $225. Length: 1 hour.

Homebuilder Lending

Residential construction is a specific type of construction. It is unique in that repayment is not from cash flow or operating the property as income producing, but rather from the sale of units. In this course, learners will examine the distinctive aspects of homebuilder loan requests, including the risks.

Member: $199. Non-Member: $349. Length: 2 hours.

Leases

At the core of a property's financial success is the income generated by the tenants. In this course, learners will apply lease review techniques to verify the numbers being used in the financial analysis and understand any constraints placed on the property by concessions or options granted to a tenant.

Member: $125. Non-Member: $225. Length: 1 hour, 15 minutes.

Loan Structure

In this course, learners will identify key components of loan structure and review the use of loans covenants as well as other techniques to protect property cash flow, property value, and the loan itself.

Member: $125. Non-Member: $225. Length: 1 hour.

Risk Areas

In this course, learners will assess a commercial property's ability to succeed and meet loan repayment requirements. Learners will evaluate the risk factors affecting the performance of commercial real estate and the specific risks associated with particular types of loan requests.

Member: $199. Non-Member: $349. Length: 2 hours.

Underwriting - Basics

While many components determine whether a loan request is approved, cash flow remains the primary form of repayment. In this course, learners will examine the components and best practices of CRE underwriting and practice underwriting a CRE loan request.

Member: $199. Non-Member: $349. Length: 2 hours.

Underwriting – Different Types of Commercial Properties

While all CRE properties share core characteristics associated with income and cash flow, there are distinct differences in the lease structures that affect both income and expenses. In this course, learners will examine property characteristics and differences relative to the underwriting process.

Member: $125. Non-Member: $225. Length: 1 hour, 15 minutes.

Underwriting – Example Calculations

In this course, learners will use scenarios that include retail, apartment complex, and wholesale/manufacturing properties to practice calculations that are commonly used throughout the underwriting process.

Member: $125. Non-Member: $225. Length: 1 hour, 15 minutes.
